Estate Planning: Beginning the Process

No matter how modest, everything you own is considered your estate.

And no matter HOW large or small your net worth, everybody has something to pass on. An estate plan will help ensure that your wishes for your possessions are followed, even when you are not around. Without a plan, state law takes over and your wishes are not considered.

Join Joy Miller and Barbara Stockebrand, Southwind Family and Consumer Science Extension Agents to learn:
1) What is estate planning?
2) Who should do estate planning and why?
3) Steps in estate Planning
